10th Grade Summer Reading List and Activities

Step 1: Pick one of the following books to read this summer!

- My father, the Angel of Death, by Ray Villareal. The Angel of Death, the American Championship Wrestling Heavyweight Champion, is one of the most popular wrestlers on Monday Night Mayhem. He is also Mark Baron, Jesse Baron's father. As Jesse negotiates the usual school problems from bullies to first love, he can't help but wonder what life would be like if his father weren't so famous.
- A Long Way Gone, by Ishmael Beah. Until now, there has not been a first-person account from someone who came through this hell and survived. Ishmael Beah, now 25 years old, tells how at the age of twelve, he fled attacking rebels and wandered a land rendered unrecognizable by violence. By thirteen, he'd been picked up by the government army, and Beah, at heart a gentle boy, found that he was capable of truly terrible acts.
- Slam, by Nick Hornby. When fifteen-year old skateboarder Sam "Slam" Jones learns that his ex-girlfriend is pregnant, he turns to the only person he feels can help—his hero, skating legend Tony Hawk. Since Tony is only a poster, he doesn't offer answers, so it's up to Sam, thrust suddenly into maturity, to figure out the right thing to do.
- Tears of a Tiger, by Sharon Draper. A high school basketball star struggles with guilt and depression following the drunk-driving accident that killed his best friend. The story is artfully told through English class assignments, including poetry; dialogues; police and newspaper reports; and letters. This moving novel will leave a deep impression.
- Vibe: A history of Hip-Hop, by Alan Light. VIBE magazine looks at the music, dance, and fashion that have evolved into hip hop culture.
- Speak, by Laurie Anderson. Calling the police to a party is a tough choice, but what made Melinda call is the devastating secret that keeps her locked in silence.
- Living Up the Street, by Gary Soto. A collection of short prose pieces by the author of A Summer Life describes the author's boyhood growing up in the barrio in the 1950s and 1960s, his experience on the Little League team, and his parochial school life.

Step 2: Purchase the book!

If you want to get a good deal on the book, the following websites sell cheap, used books:

www.bookcloseouts.com

11th Grade Summer Reading List and Activities

Step 1: Pick one of the following books to read this summer!

- The Alchemist, by Paulo Coelho. This inspirational fable has been a runaway bestseller. The charming tale of Santiago, a shepherd boy, who dreams of seeing the world. He journeys from Spain to Morocco in search of worldly success, and eventually to Egypt, where a fateful encounter with an alchemist brings him at last to self-understanding and spiritual enlightenment.
- A Thousand Splendid Suns, by Khaled Hosseini. Hosseini takes us through forty some years of Afghanistan's bloody history. While he does not spare us any of the descriptions of the terror that continues to besiege that country, he does offer us a story that speaks so tenderly about the lasting impression people make on people. The story follows two women in their hopeless struggle to have a decent life in an unforgiving, intolerant society."
- Always Running, by Luis J. Rodriguez wrote this book for his son. It is a memoir of his youth as a member of a street gang in Los Angeles, which has been highly acclaimed for its description of the lives of desperate, impoverished individuals in big cities. Be warned: this memoir contains vulgar language.
- Stiff: The Curious Lives of Human Cadavers, by Mary Roach. Both funny and gruesome, this book follows the amazing life-after-death adventures of human bodies and examines how medical and research scientists use cadavers to make our lives better.
- Ender's Game, by Orson Scott Card. Imagine a brilliant young child, ripped from his family at a young age and forced to train for battle against an alien monster. Filled with surprises, this novel charts the growth of a deeply complicated young man as he prepares for inter-galactic battle. The ending will surprise you.
- House of the Scorpion, by Nancy Farmer. This is the empire of Matteo Alacran, a feudal drug lord in the country of Opium, which lies between the United States and Aztlan, formerly Mexico. Alacran, or El Patron, has lived 140 years with the help of transplants from a series of clones, a common practice among rich men in this world. The intelligence of clones is usually destroyed at birth, but Matt, the latest of Alacran's doubles, has been spared because he belongs to El Patron. Gradually, he realizes the fate that is in store for him, and with the help of Tam Lin, he escapes to Aztlan.
- My Bondage and My Freedom, by Frederick Douglass. One of Douglass' several autobiographies, this is a very important book that should be read by anyone interested in United States history generally, or the crucial and often tragic role race has played in that history. His recounting of his experience as a slave, and his reflections on his role as a black former slave in America, are powerful.

12th Grade Summer Reading List and Activities

*SENIORS, please note: in addition to reading a selection from this summer reading list, you must also purchase and read, The Giver, by Lois Lowry. You do not have to complete a summer project for The Giver, but you must have it read for your 12th grade religion course.

Step 1: Pick one of the following books to read this summer!

- The Things They Carried, by Tim O'Brien. The book is a collection of stories about a platoon of American soldiers in the Vietnam War. While apparently based on some of O'Brien's own experiences, the title page refers to the book as "a work of fiction." The platoon is a group of very young men, most of whom are unprepared for the Vietnam War. They carry heavy rations and supplies, and pictures of their girlfriends, and fear and sadness and confusion.
- Life of Pi, by Yann Martel. Life of Pi is a magical reading experience. The precocious son of a zookeeper, 16-year-old Pi Patel is raised in Pondicherry, India. Planning a move to Canada, his father packs up the family and they hitch a ride on an enormous freighter. After a harrowing shipwreck, Pi finds himself adrift in the Pacific Ocean, trapped on a 26-foot lifeboat with a wounded zebra, a spotted hyena, a seasick orangutan, and a 450-pound Bengal tiger named Richard Parker. In rich passages, Pi recounts the harrowing journey.
- Dreams from My Father, by Barack Obama. Elected the first black president of the Harvard Law Review, Obama was offered a book contract, but the intellectual journey he planned to recount became instead this poignant, probing memoir of an unusual life.
- Where Am I Wearing?, by Kelsey Timmerman. Journalist Timmerman travels the globe in search of the factories that manufactured his clothing. Tracking a T-shirt, underwear, jeans, and flip-flops leads him from Honduras to Bangladesh to Cambodia and China. It is not surprising that he gains an eye-opening view of how much the average piece of American apparel is marked up. Like most of us, he wants a simple solution to the problem, rather than be faced with the paralyzing morass that is global poverty, and so he suggests some costly, if important solutions.
- Feed, by M.T. Anderson. Spending time partying on the moon and riding around in his "upcar," Titus is an average teen of the future, complete with a computer chip implant—the "Feed"—that lets corporate marketers and government agencies broadcast directly into his brain. Then Titus meets Violet, and an anti-Feed hacker shuts down their Feeds for a short time; but when Violet's Feed is seriously damaged, she begins spouting some radical ideas.
- The Brief Wondrous Life of Oscar Wao, by Junot Diaz. Oscar is a 300-pound-plus "lovesick ghetto nerd" with zero game (except for Dungeons & Dragons) who cranks out pages of fantasy fiction with the hopes of becoming a Dominican J.R.R. Tolkien. The book is also the story of a multi-generational family curse that courses through the book, leaving troubles and tragedy in its wake. The rope-a-dope narrative is funny, hip, tragic, soulful, and bursting with desire.
- Guns, Germs, and Steel: The Fates of Human Societies, by Jared Diamond. Diamond is a professor of geography and physiology at UCLA and a graduate of The Roxbury Latin School. The book is not merely an account of the past; it attempts to explain why Eurasian civilizations, as a whole, have survived and conquered others.

After you have read your book, choose 1 of 4 project options to complete for your book! The project will be presented during the first week of school. Prizes will be awarded to top projects in each grade level and...

A Grand Prize, Trip for Three to Disneyland, will be awarded to each grade level!!

Option 1: Film and Post a YouTube Video of Your Book

If you choose this option, you will film and post key scenes from your selected summer reading book. Use the checklist below to help you successfully complete this assignment:

_____ 1. Write the Script. After reading the book, make a list of the book's most important events. From the list begin to write a script. Since your movie is to be about 5 minutes long, your script should be about 5 pages (typed). The script should contain dialogue, character directions and scene descriptions. Below is an brief excerpt from a sample script, Lord of the Flies:

Scene 5: Jack's Fort, Nighttime

Ralph slowly creeps over the ridge and sees Sam 'n Eric sitting by a fire. Sam 'n Eric are sleepy and exhausted. Ralph positions himself to the right of them and crouches down low.

Ralph
(whispering)
Samneric, It's me Ralph!

They both look up, startled

Sam 'n Eric
You got to go, Ralph. You go away now.
The Chief and Roger, they hate you, Ralph!

_____ 2. Shoot the Film. Make a movie using a digital camera, web cam, or cell phone. An old VHS will only work if you transfer it to a digital file—you'll need a digital converter to plug an older camcorder into the computer. You can upload a YouTube movie directly from a phone if you set up a Mobile Profile in YouTube. With a high speed connection, it should generally take a few minutes, give or take.

_____ 3. Edit Your Movie. Programs such as Mac's iMovie or Windows' MovieMaker are both good—add titles, effects, cut out a bad takes, etc. Resize the video so it looks best in YouTube. The site accepts QuickTime .MOV, Windows .AVI, or .MPG files at 340x240 resolution. There's a 100MB size and 10 minute length limit.

_____ 4. Create a YouTube Account or Burn movie onto a DVD. Click on Upload Videos in the upper right corner of the home page. Create a title, description, tags, category, and set language.

_____ 5. Check the Rubric. Make sure that your project is complete and follows the rubric!

_____ 6. Be Ready to Present. You will sign up to present your video during the first week of school!

Option 2: Create and Burn a CD for Your Book

If you choose this option, you will make a CD of music for your selected summer reading book. Think of it as the book's soundtrack. Use the checklist below to help you successfully complete this assignment:

_____ 1. Pick the Songs. After reading the book, make a list of the book's 10 most important events. From the list begin to think of songs that relate to what is happening during those events. Take into consideration the tone and the themes of the book. The songs you select can be about certain characters, situations or events from the book. Feel free to write and compose your own original music that relates to the book.

_____ 2. Burn a CD. Using iTunes or MediaPlayer, create a playlist of your selected songs and burn the music tracks to a CD. After burning, check to make sure that the music was successfully burned to the CD.

_____ 3. Make an Album Cover and Booklet for Your CD. Find a picture or create your own CD cover art for your book's CD. Inside the pages of your CD booklet, include the song title, the artist name, the reason why you chose the song (1 full paragraph), and the song lyrics. Use this example from Romeo and Juliet as a guide:

Track 6
Song: Hey there Delilah
Artist: Plain White T's

I chose this song because it's about missing someone you love. When Romeo is banished from Verona, he is forced to separate from Juliet. He is in utter agony because he misses Juliet so much. I can imagine this song playing in the background as Romeo waits for a letter from Juliet. In the song the singer talks about the sadness of being apart from Delilah and how he can't wait for the future when they will be reunited. Romeo, too, can not wait until he gets to see Juliet again.

Hey there Delilah
What's it like in New York City
I'm a thousand miles away
But girl tonight you look so pretty
Yes you do
Time Square cant shine as bright as you
I swear it's true

Hey there Delilah
Don't you worry about the distance
I'm right there if you get lonely
Give this song another listen
Close your eyes
Listen to my voice it's my disguise
I'm by your side...

_____ 4. Check the Rubric. Make sure that your project is complete and follows the rubric!

_____ 5. Be Ready to Present. You will sign up to present your CD booklet and a preview of your song tracks during the first week of school!

Option 3: Draw a Storyboard or Comic Strip of Your Book

If you choose this option, you will make a storyboard or comic strip of your book. Think of how you might illustrate the book if you were hired as its illustrator. Use the checklist below to help you successfully complete this assignment:

_____ 1. Pick the Images. After reading the book, make a list of the book's 16-20 most important events. From the list, begin to think of ways to visually depict those situations or events. Pay close attention to the descriptions that the author gives of characters and places, as your drawings must adequately represent the book. (see example below)

_____ 2. Draw and Color. In chronological order, draw a storyboard or comic strip of your book's major events. You can use a large sheet of paper and divide it into 16-20 squares or you can use 16-20 sheets of paper and create a storyboard booklet.

_____ 3. Add Text to Each Square. Each square of your storyboard should have a line of text from the book or a dialogue quote that relates to the images in the square. The text in every square should be cited with the correct page number.

_____ 4. Check the Rubric. Make sure that your project is complete and follows the rubric!

_____ 5. Be Ready to Present. You will sign up to present your storyboard or comic strip during the first week of school!

Example: From Sandra Cisneros' House on Mango Street

"I want to be like the waves on the sea, like the waves on the sea, like the clouds in the wind, but I'm me. One day I'll jump out of my skin. I'll shake the sky like a hundred violins" pgs.60-61

Option 4: Create a Webpage or PowerPoint of Your Book or Your Favorite Character from Your Book

If you choose this option, you will create a webpage for your selected summer reading book. Use the checklist below to help you successfully complete this assignment:

_____ 1. Create a Googlepages (or similar) Webpage/PowerPoint. DO NOT create a MySpace or Facebook page, as those sites are blocked on Verbum Dei's Server. After reading the book, make a list of the book's most important events, places, and people. If your book has characters, you may create a page/PowerPoint for a major character. Think about how you want to portray the book or character visually. Choose your color schemes and fonts wisely!

_____ 2. Upload 5 Pictures onto Your Page/PowerPoint. Post pictures that are relevant to the story or character. Make sure that all pictures are appropriate. You can use pictures and images that you take yourself or that you find on the internet.

_____ 3. Include Music (if possible). Download and post to your page a song that is relevant to your book or character.

_____ 4. Write a Summary, Character Blog, and a Critique of the Book. In your own words, write a summary of the book, discussing the most relevant events. Then, write a personal 2-3 paragraph critique of the book, discussing the strengths and weaknesses of the book. Lastly, pick a character and write a blog (1-2 paragraphs) as that character.

_____ 5. Post 5 Quotes. Post quotes from the text that you think are the most important.

_____ 6. Check the Rubric. Make sure that your project is complete and follows the rubric!

_____ 7. Be Ready to Present. You will sign up to present your page during the first week of school!

Good Luck, Happy Reading!
